EL'S SONS' RECORD FOR THE FOOTBALL SEASON EASILY SURPASSES CAMBRIDGEITES'

HERMAN COULDN'T KNOCK ABEL OUT

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 21.—In a fast twenty-round bout before the Missouri Athletic Club last night "Kid" Herman got the decision over "Kid" Abel, both of Chicago. Herman won by his coolness. He landed repeatedly on Abel's head and face. Abel did not seem to be able to protect himself.

In the seventh round Herman closed Abel's left eye. Abel saved himself a number of times by clinching, but Herman did not fail once to land in the eye-ways.

In the eleventh round Herman floundered with a heavy swing to the jaw, but Abel was on his feet without waiting for the count. In the fifteenth round Herman fought Abel all over the ring, landing repeatedly with effect, but the time saved Abel.

From then on Herman made desperate efforts to put Abel out, but he could not land the needed blow before the twentieth round ended the fight.

McKEEVER'S NEXT FIGHT.

Charley McKeever, the Quaker City welter-weight, who sprung a surprise in Milwaukee last night by securing a decision over Hugo Kelly, the rugged Chicago fighter, has another fight on his hands. He has been secured to meet Tony Caponi, the Chicago fighter, in a fifteen-round bout at Minneapolis within two weeks. McKeever must have regained some of his former cleverness.

ROOT AND JIM FLYNN.

Jack Root, the light heavy-weight fighter of Chicago, is fast rounding up into shape for his twenty-round bout with Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fighter, which takes place at Pueblo, Col., on Thanksgiving Day afternoon. Flynn is said to be a great fighter by the critics in the West, and they look for him to give Root the hardest fight the latter has ever had.

The following tables show the records of Harvard and Yale eleven for this season ending to-day:

If the season's football records of Yale and Harvard could be rolled on as a safe means of comparing the rival teams, Harvard would appear outclassed in to-day's gridiron battle at Cambridge. The difference in their performances has been marked. Yale has lost only one game, and that to Princeton. Although scored on from the field, her line was not crossed until De Witt made his touchdown last Saturday. In the eleven games played, Yale has scored 296 points to her opponents' 26.

SWEENEY LOSES HARD FIGHT IN LAST ROUND

(Special to The Evening World.)

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 21.—After putting up one of the gamiest and hardest battles of his career last night at the Lenox Athletic Club, Patsy Sweeney, of Manchester, went down to defeat at the hands of Sam Langford, of this city, after two minutes and thirty-eight seconds of the twelfth and last round. The end came after two knockdowns had been administered to Patsy, and he was

RUHLIN WRESTLED; DIDN'T FIGHT

(Special to The Evening World.)

FINDLAY, O., Nov. 21.—What was to have been a fight between Ruhlman and Mackey and Mackey and Simms in this city last night resolved itself into a wrestling match. Acting under instructions from Gov. Nash, Assistant Attorney-General Jones was present at the ringside and vowed his intention of stopping the fight at all hazards. Up to a late hour last evening rumor was current that the fight would come off. But the presence of Sheriff Bushong and twelve deputies acting under orders of Jones put a damper on the proceedings, and after a lengthy discussion Ruhlman announced that there would be no contest with the gloves. Instead he and Ruhlman put on a wrestling match in which Ruhlman was victor and Mackey amused the throng by his clever bag-punching.

GARDNER PLANS DEFEAT OF FITZ

(Special to The Evening World.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—George Gardner will not make a rushing fight with Fitz when they meet next Wednesday night. He thinks he will make a fighting fight, and win out by his wits and strength.

"Of course Fitz denies that he is won from me," says Gardner, "but we all know that he is dangerous near the body and right on it. Well, I'm twenty-seven, and, according to ring records, a man fights better at that age than at any other time in his life. Right there I have an advantage of twelve or thirteen years and my strength to hold out from the very day that this match was made that I'd win, and

KELLY OUTFOUGHT, LOST TO M'KEEVER

(Special to The Evening World.)

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 21.—Charles McKeever, of Philadelphia, won a decision over Hugh Kelly, of Chicago, after six rounds of hot fighting here last night. Otto Siefel was given the first round.

The fight was held in the new pavilion of the Colma Club, in San Mateo County, just across the line, and the sports were taken there in special electric cars.

Pavilion Was Crowded.

The pavilion, which holds about 3,000 persons, was crowded to the doors, hundreds of sports sitting on the rafters and hanging on the window-sills.

Both men were given a great reception on entering the ring. "Young Corbett" and Hanlon were introduced to the cheering mob.

When the men started off Canole began jabbing with a straight left, and kept this up all through the fight. Britt never was up against such a punch as the Easterner carried, and was up in the air after the first five rounds. Canole landed his punch on Britt's eye and switched his punch to the body with the speed of a rifle ball.

Britt's Blows Told.

The local man covered up well after this and shot his left to the body. These blows had more sting and force than Canole's.

Canole's footwork and generalship reminded the sports of Jack O'Brien, who shifted cleverly, blocked like a champion and outboxed Britt up to the eighth round.

"Spider" Kelly, who was in the latter's corner, sent him after Canole then, and the latter curled up from the terrible lefts which Britt sent to his body. Near the end of the eighth round Britt caught his man with a right on the mouth, staggering him. He tried hard to finish him, but Canole's head was too cool and he stalled Britt off until the bell. His lips were cut and blood was running down his chest.

Rushed Canole.

Britt's strength began to tell here, and he rushed Canole, smashing lefts to the body and rights to the head. The latter took his punishment gamely, and always came back with a left jab to the eye, which was almost closed from incessant jabbing.

The fight was even now up to the sixteenth round, when Britt's right cost Canole a knockdown. Canole recoiled with the jaw again. Canole staggered, but did not fall. Both were very wild, swinging all over the ring. Canole did not like the body blows, and crouched as Britt led with either hand. The crowd cheered as he danced in and out, keeping that left on Britt's left eye and his bloody nose.

Fought in Streaks.

He fought in streaks now, one minute stopping everything, the next knocking the local boy's head back and making him wince.

Both were full of blood and very tired. Britt had the best in the eighteenth. Had Canole groggy. In the twenty-third he put Canole to the floor with a volley of lefts and rights, but the latter dashed away as he came up, making it safe for Britt forced the fighting the next two rounds. He was much stronger than his opponent, who was weakened by loss of blood.

Referee Welch gave Britt the decision, which was a popular verdict.

Britt never took such a beating. His eye was almost closed, his nose swollen and lips cut.

He says forty-five rounds within ten days are too much. He thinks he would have won sooner if he hadn't fought Siegler.

NO SERGEANT AT THE PRIVATE FIGHT

The Evening World was correct yesterday when it stated that Jack McKeever was the referee of the private fight between Willie Schumaker and "Kid" Murphy, which was fought on Thursday night. Some of the papers announced that a police sergeant was the referee.

As a result of this announcement Police Commissioner Greenough called the referee to find out who the sergeant was that officiated as the referee of the fight. This will be hard on the police official of any kind in attendance.

O'KEEFE-GARDNER MATCH.

Jack O'Keefe, the hard-hitting light-weight fighter of Chicago, who has fought Jimmy Britt two twenty-round draws, had been matched to fight Gus Gardner, of Philadelphia, in a twenty-round bout at a show at Grand Rapids, Mich., within two weeks. Gardner recently fought Martin Duffy, the Chicago welter-weight champion, a ten-round draw. This will be O'Keefe's first fight since he boxed Britt in Montana, a

"TED" PRITCHARD, FIGHTER, DEAD

LONDON, Nov. 21.—"Ted" Pritchard, the former middle-weight champion of England, died of pneumonia yesterday after a short illness. This was Pritchard's second attack, his previous sick spell having been in 1896. The news of Pritchard's death was received with much regret by the sporting fraternity, as Pritchard was one of the most popular fighters of his day.

Pritchard won the middle-weight championship of England in 1896 by defeating Alf Mitchell in four rounds and Jim Smith in three rounds. Pritchard held the title until Aug. 20, 1897, when he met Jim Hall, the Australian fighter, in a fight at Brighton, and was knocked out in the fourth round with a right-hand swing on the jaw. The men fought at 160 pounds for $5,000 a side and the middle-weight championship of England. Pritchard was the favorite in the betting before the battle began at odds of 7 to 4. Pritchard was no match for the clever Australian, who landed when and where he pleased on him.

Pritchard then fought Jim Smith in 1898 and knocked him out in two rounds. Smith asked for a return fight and Pritchard granted him his request. They fought on May 10, 1899, and Smith knocked out Pritchard in the second round by landing a blow in his stomach, which sent him through the ropes, where he remained until counted out. Pritchard did not fight after that.

South Africa Needs 241,000 Men.

JOHANNESBURG, Nov. 21.—The report of the Labor Commission estimates the total shortage of laborers at 241,000, of which 170,000 are needed in the mining industry alone. The commission believes that no source in Central or Southern Africa will be able to supply the shortage.
